

Risk Management from an issuer perspective

June 6, 2008
Allison Edwards
Director of Product
Development

Fisery, Inc.

on point

- Fortune 500 company providing information technology for processing financial transactions for more than 30 years
- Publicly traded for more than 20 years (NASDAQ: FISV)
- 23,000 employees and 18,000 clients worldwide

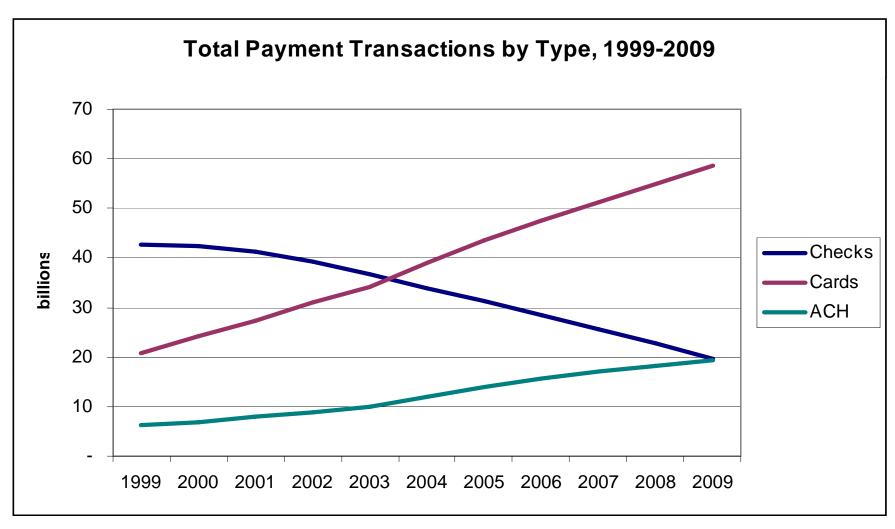

Fisery EFT

- 30 years' experience
- 5.4 billion debit and ATM transactions processed in 2007
- 2,700 financial institution clients
 - 1,100+ banks
 - 1,400+ credit unions
- 18,000 ATMs

Cards Dominate Transaction Volumes...

Source: Financial Insights, 2005

Land of Opportunity

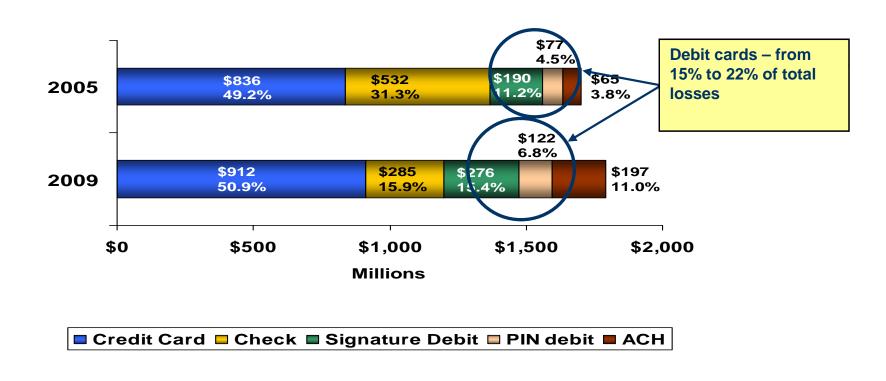

- Growing payment segment
- Fraudsters becoming more creative & sophisticated
- Inviting target
- Professionalism of criminal organizations

Fraud Loss By Payment Type

U.S. Payments Fraud Loss by Type

Sources: ABA/Dove Consulting "2005/2006 Study of Consumer Payment Preferences," Financial Insights

The Risk Climate What We Know We Know

- Consumers love their debit card
- Debit card fraud is here to stay
- Card compromise impact, regulations and debate
- Fact vs. fiction and reality vs. perception
- Issuers bearing the burden
- Consumer perception impact of the "fraud factor"

Risk Management - An Issuer Perspective

- We bear the liability for fraud losses & associated costs
 - Cardholder zero liability
 - Limited Charge back rights
- We have increasing expenses to invest in risk management solutions
- Interchange does not provide a revenue stream that offsets our costs/losses
- It is our reputation at risk

The Realities of Fraud

- Detection is key
- Response time essential
- A balanced defense is the best defense
- An understanding of controls is critical
- One solution will not fit all
- Dynamic environment

How Do Issuers Prepare?

Develop comprehensive risk management strategies and programs

Increase investment in the "right" risk management and security solutions

Rethink the role of the cardholder

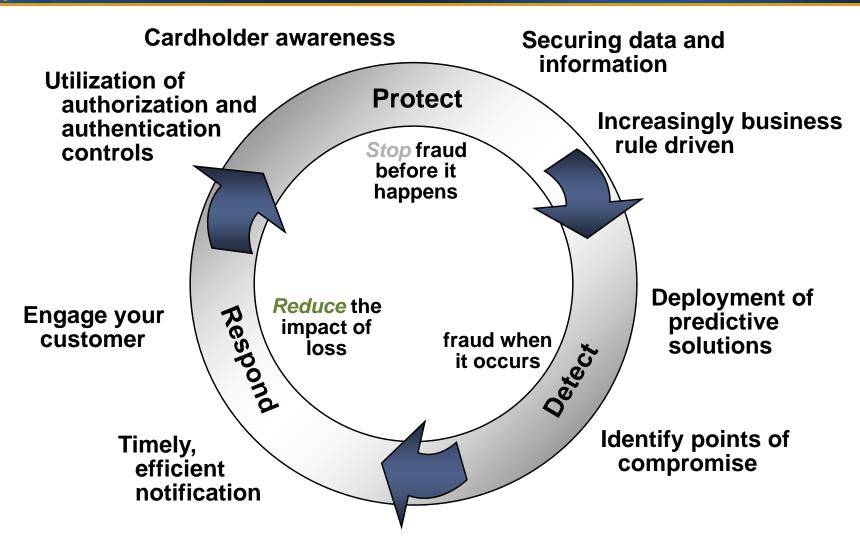

What Issuers Want, Need and Expect

- Effective Risk Management solutions
 - Protect prevent fraud from happening
 - Detect identify potential fraud
 - Respond minimize impact of known fraud
- Solutions that provide:
 - Real-time control for action
 - Flexibility to NOT treat every transaction or cardholder the same
- Reduced losses
- Happy cardholders ©

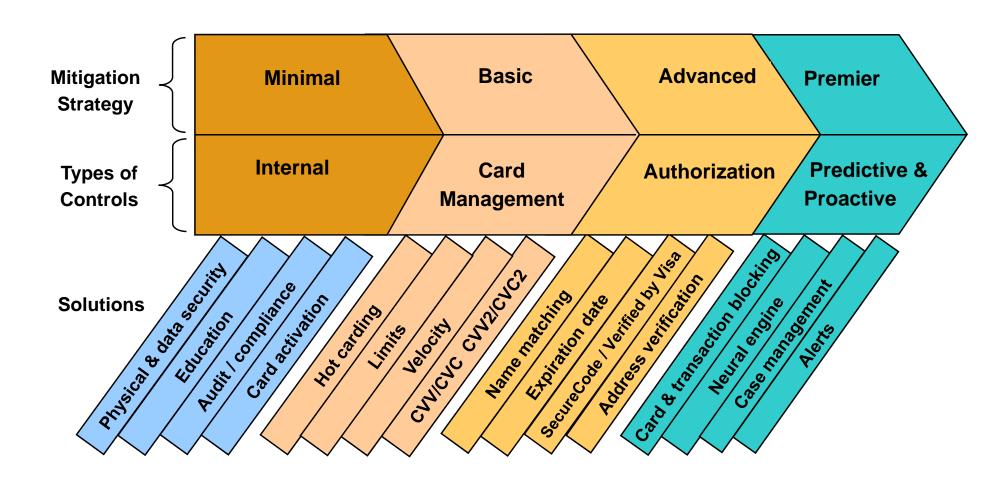

The Right Solutions

Risk Mitigation Spectrum

What Do Cardholders Want, Expect and Demand?

- To use their card when they want, where they want for what they want
- Their card to be secure
- They do not want to be inconvenienced
- They do not want their card program to be intrusive

The Evolving Role of the Cardholder

- Cardholders know their activity best
- Most effective crime fighters against fraud
- Educated cardholder = satisfied customer
 - Allow to define options & activities (e.g. limits)
 - Opt out of paper statements
 - Provide tools for self monitoring (online banking, notification alerts)
- Cardholder awareness is essential
 - Will they receive calls to inquire about transaction activity?
 - Are they able to use their cards internationally?

Questions?

Allison.Edwards@Fiserv.com 973-682-5521

