

James Chasey is currently an adjunct instructor at the College of Dupage.

James Chasey received his BA from Purdue University, his MA from the University of Illinois, and studied in the Graduate School of Business of the University of Chicago as the Christa McAuliffe Fellow for the State of Illinois. He has taught economics in high school from 1969-2002, and economics part-time in college since 1985. He has enjoyed the privilege of being a grader, and a table leader in AP Economics, since 1996. Among his favorite professional activities are presenting at numerous one-day workshops and week-long summer institutes for AP Economics. He is married and has two children, one of whom is teaching AP Psychology. Mr. Chasey has written numerous works specifically for use in the teaching of AP Economics.